

Governor Profile – Rebecca Delmore

I have been in the commercial hospitality and marketing industry for over 20 years. Currently I am Commercial Director at Millennium Point, responsible for commercial revenue streams to include property, events and the charitable trust. Raising the brand and profile of a public building in the heart of Birmingham city centre the aim is to ensure we maximise commercial opportunities with the view to gift a large amount to STEM organisations within the West Midlands. We have successfully donated over 20 million pound over the past 5 years.

Currently I also hold the responsibility as a Non-Executive Director for Rubicon Leisure. I sit on the board for the Abbey Stadium leisure and fitness centre, The Forge Mill and needle museum, The Palace Theatre, Arrow Valley visitor Centre, Pitcher oak Golf Course. The only shareholder is Redditch Borough Council.

Raising my family in Redditch has made me into a huge supporter of the local area. I really believe that Redditch should be a destination where people should enjoy and want to work, live and socialise regardless of background. This is why I have chosen to get involved with the community. I want to inspire the next generation to get into STEM careers and to dream big.
